

Separate

The time we spent all together has now dissipated
I'm starting to look back on the times we've collaborated
The times we laughed and joked
And i know for sure it wasn't a hoax
We created a bond, one I never thought would have happened
But now that moment is passing
We are going to separate so I believe now it is time to commemorate
The moments we were together
We worked better than
Real cow leather
I know we can't be like a pulley and a lever
But we can't remember all the moments we spent with each other
Forever
